1. Identify a Problem

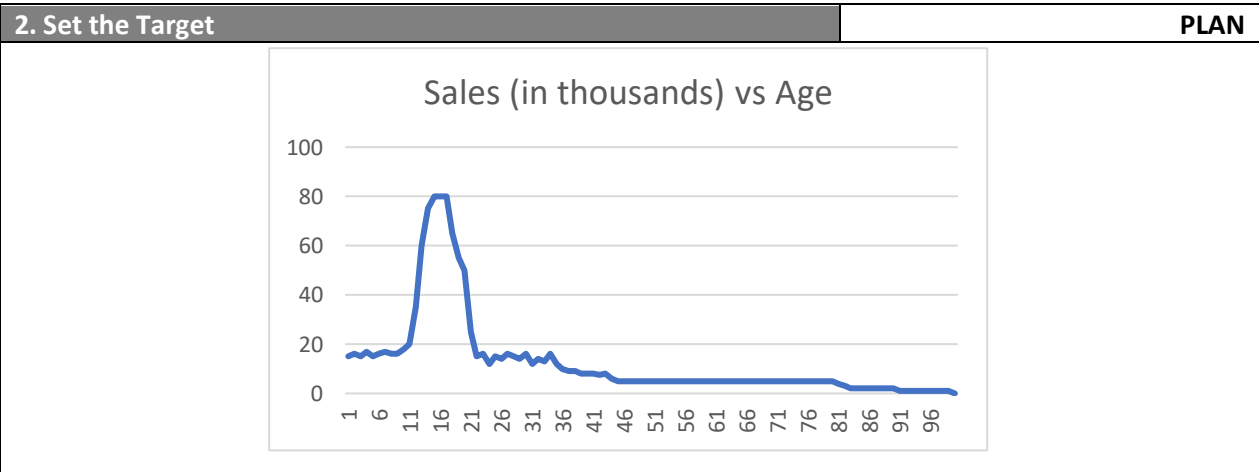

PLAN

Big companies often tend to sell clothes of what most of the people are wearing in a certain area

People often want clothes that do not go with the flow of their surroundings

Small companies often tend to sell simple clothes and some of the big trends that may be going on around the are

People are left out by being able to wear unique designs that other people have created or even created by themselves

3. Analyze the Causes

PLAN

This "problem" or occurrence often happens because most teens and/or young adults reach the age of rebellion and tend to wander off into their own world because they want to look like grownups and impress their friends. Elaborating, world as in something that they feel they can control, unique in their own way, and be comfortable in rather than feeling like, what is considered by most people, a normal person and impress others.

4. Propose & Implement Countermeasures

PLAN/DO

A countermeasure that would most likely eliminate people feeling that they are not unique would be constructing a website in which that people can choose their own design of clothes. These clothes can either be created by them or by someone else and tweak the others one too if so, they wish. The clothes range from hats to underwear, from buttoned shirts to exercising pants. Every item is customizable by the customer and be published (nothing rated above PG-13 and is to be reviewed by an administrator) for everyone else to see. This countermeasure of selecting a website is selected because it is easier to access from anywhere in the World without any country restrictions so that everyone can be a part of the experience if they decide to join the fun.
